October 7 Deadline To Register

Mrs. Joan Mahan, Secretary of the State Board of Elections, urged all Virginians who move their place of residence before the November 7, 1972 election to transfer their voting registration to the election district of their new residence. The last day to do this is October 7.

Mrs. Mahan noted that if a voter fails to advise the registrar of his change of residence from one place to another, and the move occurred more than 30 days prior to the election, such voter may not be permitted to vote.

Virginia law requires that a person to be entitled to vote must be a citizen of the United States, eighteen years of age, a resident of the Commonwealth and of the precinct in which he offers to vote and must be duly registered and otherwise qualified under the Constitution.

"I encourage all voters of the Commonwealth to make certain that they are registered to vote in the precinct in which they are residing in order that they will be qualified to vote in

Ten years ago, just prior to the organizing of the Appomattox County Rescue Squad, the first First Aid Class was taught in Appomattox. Instructor for the Class was Dispatcher Rouch, Appomattox Division, Virginia State Police. The 31 men and women taking the class are pictured above, all of whom will be familiar to most readers.

The Appomattox Home Demonstration Federation isn't any more.

Along with the state and national parent organizations, the county organization has changed its name to the Appomattox Extension Homemakers Council, Mrs. T. C. Harvey, Sr., county chairman, explained.

"At the state meeting at Virginia Tech," Mrs. Harvey added, "the state organization changed its name to the Virginia Extension Homemakers Council (VEHC). It was felt that the new designation would be more in line with the organization's current functions."

Members of the organization participate in programs on areas which include international, family life, health, safety, cultural arts, citizenship, scholarship and others. Many of the clubs have many other projects concerned with improving the community and enriching the lives of others.

Serving with Mrs. Harvey, in the Appomattox Extension Council are Mrs. R. K. Martin, vice president; Mrs. Cliff Plunkett, secretary; and Mrs. B. J. Lucado, treasurer.

They work with Extension agents who provide educational leadership, upon request, to the organization.

1 Out Of 8 Hold Gov't Jobs

NEW YORK – How many Appomattox County residents are holding down government jobs? How does this compare, in relation to population, with the number on government payrolls in other communities?

According to the latest figures, a smaller proportion of the working force is to be found in public jobs – Federal, state and local – than in most parts of the United States.

Approximately 1 out of 8 employed persons in the area works for a government agency. This is exclusive of those in the armed forces.

The facts and figures on public employment, locally and elsewhere, comes from studies and surveys made by the Department of Commerce, the Tax Foundation and others.

They show that the number of persons so-employed has risen much faster in recent years than the number in private employment.

Since 1960 there has been a 59 percent increase in those on public payrolls, as compared with a 26 percent rise in the number in private industry.

In Appomattox County, the reports indicate, some 12.3 percent of the working population are in government jobs.

This is below the proportion in the rest of the United States, where the average is 13.2 percent. In the South Atlantic States, it is 17.6 percent.

The figures show that there are now some 470 men and women in the local area on government payrolls.

Of this total, 180 are in state and local employ. The rest work
